This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. RULES AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

REFERENCE LIBRARY.

No person will be allowed to obtain any Book without signing a "Reader's Ticket," and such Signature shall be taken and considered to be an assent to the Rules and Regulations of the Library.

Readers giving a false name and address will be held responsible for the consequences.

Readers cannot obtain more than one Work on the same Ticket.

It is expressly forbidden to take out of the Reading Room any Book, Map, Manuscript, or other article belonging to the Library, or to write or make any marks upon the same.

Readers desirous of proposing Books for addition to the Library, or of making any suggestion as to its management, may do so by writing the same in a Suggestion Book, which is regularly submitted to the Committee for consideration.

No person will be admitted to the Library who is intoxicated or in a dirty condition; nor will any conversation be permitted in the room.

No person is allowed to pass within the enclosure, except by special permission of the Librarian.

Persons under fourteen years of age are not admitted to the Reference Library, except for special purposes to be determined by the Librarian.

The costly Illustrated Works are issued only on written application to the Committee.

PREFACE.

THE Library, of which the following is a Catalogue, was opened on the 26th of October, 1866. The Books, numbering 22,500 volumes, and costing upwards of £7,000, were almost exclusively paid for out of the penny rate levied under the Free Libraries Act of 1855.

The collection has been formed on the following principles:

I. That the Library should, as far as practicable, represent every phase of human thought and every variety of opinion.

II. That books of permanent value and of standard interest should form the principal portion of the Library, and that modern books of value and importance should be added from time to time as they are published.

III. That it should contain those rare and costly works which are generally out of the reach of individual students and collectors, and which are not usually found in provincial or private Libraries.

On the opening of the Library a general desire was expressed that there should be a printed Catalogue of its contents, not only for use in the Library itself, but also to afford the means of reference at home.

A Catalogue, to be generally acceptable to those using a Free Library, should be simple in plan and moderate in cost. To meet these requirements, only a brief description of each work is given, but it is entered under all the words by which it is likely to be sought. Thus, Ruskin's Stones of Venice will be found under "Ruskin," "Venice," and "Architecture;" Gruner's Decorations de Palais et d'Eglises en Italie under "Gruner," "Italy," and "Art;" Il Vaticano da Pistolesi, under "Pistolesi," "Vatican," "Rome," and "Art;" Lyell's Antiquity of Man, under "Lyell," "Man," and "Geology."

On reference to the words "Architecture," "Art," "Bibliography," "Botany," "Dictionary," "Drama," "England," "Geology," "Law," "Natural History," "Shakespeare," etc. etc., it will be found that, while apparently a mere alphabetical list, the Catalogue secures many of the advantages of classification while avoiding some of its difficulties.

An attempt is made to popularise neglected but valuable Collections, such as The Harleian Miscellany, Pamphleteer, Somers' Tracts, Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge, Voyages and Travels, etc., by setting-out their contents. The same has been done in the case of authors whose works are in many volumes.

"The Shakespeare Memorial Library," included in this Catalogue, was purchased and presented to the town by private subscription, as a literary monument of the Tercentenary of Shakespeare's Birth.
